Special Stray Vacancy Round Seat allotment to Medical and Dental courses – 2026-27

In view of the schedule published by MCC, New Delhi, on 30-10-2026 for conduct of Special Stray Vacancy Round for Medical and Dental courses for the year 2026-27, the Special Stray Vacancy Round seat allotment round will be conducted online as per the schedule given below.

After the completion of the 'Stray Vacancy' round of seat allotment on 26-10-2026, the Medical and Dental seats that remain un-allotted or for which fees have not been paid, or where admission has not been taken at the respective colleges—have been published on the KEA website. Eligible and interested candidates may verify the available seats and the fees to participate in this Special Stray Vacancy Round.

Candidates who have not registered previously (i.e., those who do not possess a 'Verification Slip') and are interested in the available seats may fill application online and complete the process by paying the required fees.

To participate in this round, candidates must pay an "Caution Deposit" of Rs. 25,00,000/- (Rupees Twenty-Five Lakhs only) for medical courses or Rs. 1,00,000/- for dental courses before entering the options. If a seat is allotted, the Caution Deposit will be adjusted against the course fees. In the 'Special Stray Vacancy' round, if a seat is allotted but the candidate fails to take admission, chooses to cancel the admission, or fails to report to the college, the Rs. 25,00,000/- paid by the candidate will be forfeited.
